SENIORS GONE WILD?

Some people would not actually consider the Class of '90 "wild"; however, the seniors gave us reasons to believe differently. One example of this would be when the senior girls ran the football to the P-W game. Many seniors agreed that this was a truly "wild" experience.

Jim Thelen also had a "wild" experience when he recalled his freshmen band camp at Otisville where a tree was suddenly thrust through his cabin door.

Yet another "wild" experience occurred to Becky Simon. She remembers when they had a volleyball game in Portland and she went to take off her sweats and mistakenly pulled everything down excluding her undergarments.

Though the class of 1990 may not be perceived as "wild" the above examples prove that they are capable of kicking up their heels at times.
