

Kirby L. Gibbons

Jamie J. Halfman

Rob M. Hamilton

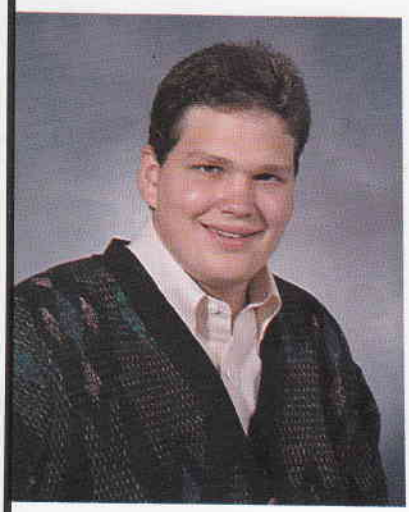

Friendship And The Future

Even though graduating offers many new opportunities, there are some things the seniors will miss after high school. "Sports and being around my friends" is what Glenn Pung said he will miss the most. While Tom Becker said, "I'm going to miss Main Street Pizza and my friends." Becky Schafer says not seeing her friends everyday in school is what she will miss the most. Keeping together with friends after graduation can be hard when students are accepted into different colleges and universities. Jill Baese will be attending LCC, and she plans on staying in touch with her friends by "writing, calling them, and seeing them on the weekends."

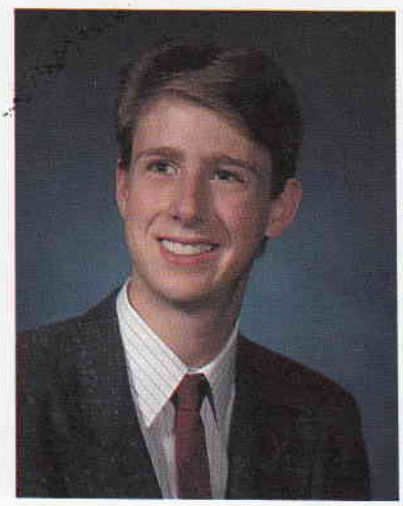

Every student has different goals and expectations of where they would like to be in the future. When asked where he would like to be ten years from now, Denny Melvin replied, "Married with maybe one kid and with a good stable job." Tim Antes sees himself "married to Kara and with four kids and I'll be a professional baseball player." Trina Rowell wants to be "happy and financially secure with a good life."

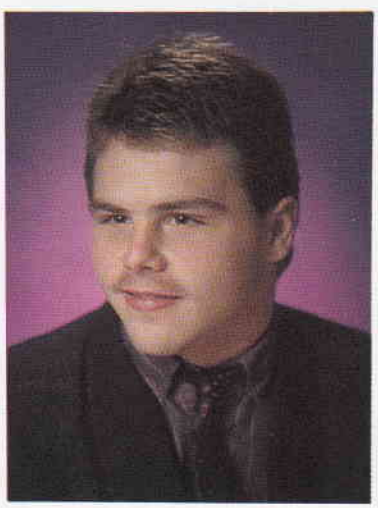

Lisa A. Martin

Dennis L. Melvin

Brad A. Miller

Brian L. Miller