CHANGE

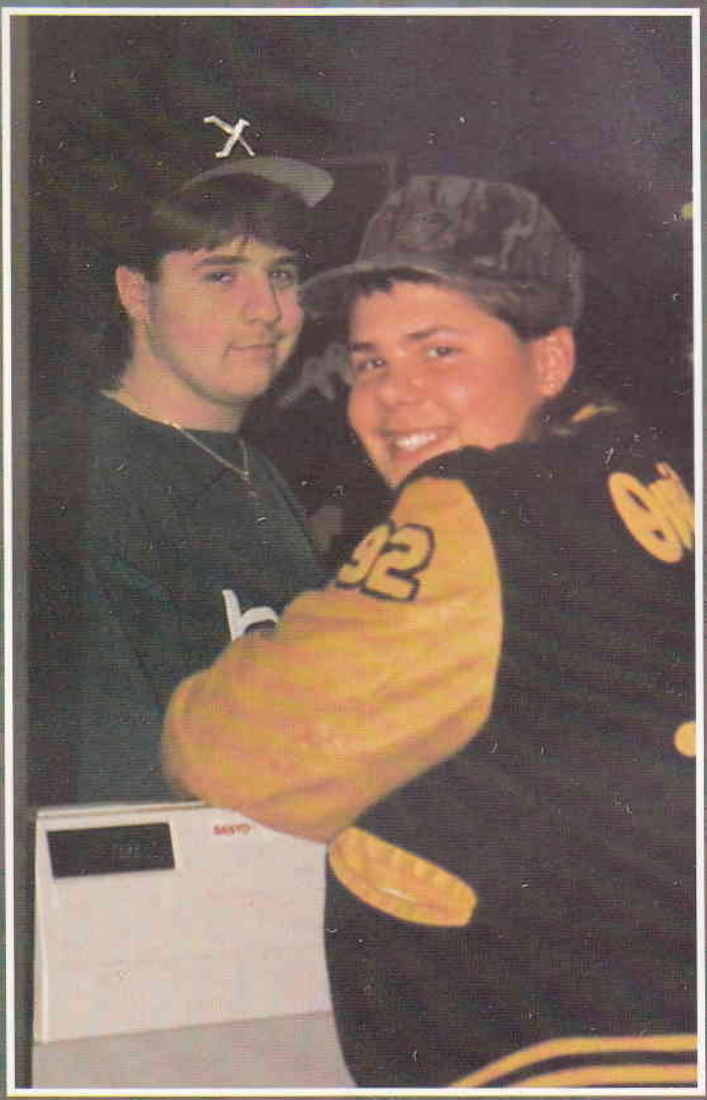

As the senior class prepared to graduate, they might have looked back and remembered all the changes they had seen take place. When they were freshmen, Mr. Lentz was principal. Mr. Gaudard took over when Mr. Lentz retired midway through their sophomore year. Then Mr. Amsterberg assumed Mr. Gaudard's duties in February when Mr. Gaudard accepted another position in Boyne City.

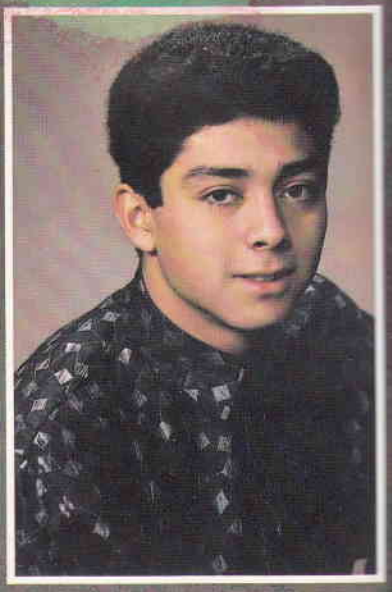

By far the most dramatic change would have to be the condemning of the Ovid and Elsie Jr. Highs. Modulars were moved in behind the high school for the jr. high students. This meant locker changes, and what the seniors disliked most, getting kicked out of their hall. "I thought that it was crowded before they came, now you have to step over them to get to class," grumbled senior Jason Stambersky.

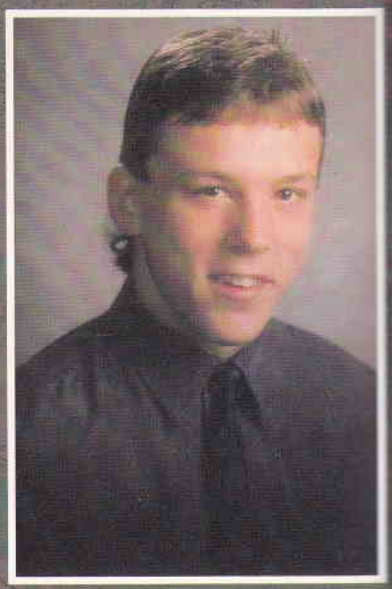

Another event that changed the face of our school were staff changes. Four teachers retired and two left for positions elsewhere. Senior Cindi Watkins stated, "Mrs. Batora is a great teacher. She makes trig almost understandable."

☐ Marie Miller

HANGIN' OUT are Mark Stanbersky and Ryan Soukup. Many students in the Marketing Club worked in the Purple Melon during their study halls.

DISCUSSING THE ISSUES are seniors Ben Toman, Josh DeBoer, Brandon Pattison, Leah Miller and Ryan Cooper. They were busy talking about the Electoral system during their 7th hour government class.

