Prophecy.

ILCOX.

We may cease to study text books
Under teachers' kindly rule;
But we study other lessons
In the literary school.

We can study many problems
That are complicated, quite,
And can make the world the better
For our living in it right.

Years from now in hall and senate,
Men, a goodly sight to see,
Graduates of St. Johns High School,
From the class of nineteen-three.

Though the rank of boys are numbered,
Yet in time our girls shall be
Members of the legislature,
And quite as efficient be.

SENIORS.
